

FOR IT & TECHNOLOGY OEMs AND DISTRIBUTORS

See your channel the way your customers do.

The neutral, benchmarked view of how your partners deliver customer experience, before it shows up in your revenue.

THE PARTNER BLIND SPOT

Your partners drive the majority of your revenue, customer acquisition, and delivery. You share utilization, adoption, and enablement data with them every day. What you cannot see is how the end customer actually experiences your brand through those partners. Certification tells you a partner is capable. It does not tell you a customer is convinced. PartnerPulse closes that gap with an independent, standardized measure of partner-delivered experience across the whole journey.

You see utilization.

You don't see the experience.

Certification proves capability.

Not conviction.

By renewal, the signal

is already too late to use.

PartnerPulse is delivered and fully managed by VistaXM. Each partner owns its own data; you get the benchmark. No raw partner data exposed, no partner trust broken.

WHAT PARTNERPULSE GIVES YOU

01 See what utilization can't

Enablement and adoption metrics tell you what partners do. They say nothing about how customers feel about it. PartnerPulse measures the experience itself, partner by partner.

With PartnerPulse: a continuous managed program that surfaces end-customer experience across your partner ecosystem.

02 Certification is not conviction

A certified partner is capable. A convinced customer renews and expands. The distance between the two is where channel revenue quietly leaks. We call it the conviction gap.

With PartnerPulse: a read on whether customers are actually convinced, so you act before capability turns into churn.

Capable ≠ convinced

03 Measure the full partner journey

Experience is formed at every stage: sales, onboarding, support, and renewal. PartnerPulse measures each one, per partner, so friction surfaces early enough to fix.

With PartnerPulse: journey-stage measurement that turns partner health into specific, addressable signal.

04 Neutral, independent, benchmarked

Each partner owns its own customer data. VistaXM aggregates and anonymizes across the ecosystem, so you get apples-to-apples benchmarks and an independent, certified standard, without exposing raw partner data or breaking partner trust.

With PartnerPulse: a benchmarked index across partners that protects trust, and gives you the comparison.

05 Turn partner signal into action

Objective experience data sharpens the decisions you already make: where to invest MDF, how to target enablement, which partners to grow, and where the ecosystem risk is hiding.

With PartnerPulse: the analysis and workflow that turn partner experience into MDF, enablement, and channel strategy.
